Creative project-based ideas for teaching digital technologies in the secondary classroom

David Grover, Macquarie University, Department of Education

The workshop will explore the strengths of a project-based approach to teaching Digital technologies for the Australian Curriculum by introducing a range of ideas suitable for immediate classroom implementation. Participants will have opportunities for hands-on experiences with a number of activities.