AUDIENCE: 1,000 anaesthetic specialists, pain medicine specialists, intensivists, trainees, associates and retirees all looking to learn and make new connections

SPEAKERS: 100 inspiring pioneers in the field of anaesthesia speaking for their specialities
On behalf of the organizing committee we are pleased to offer you the opportunity to participate in the 75th National Scientific Congress (NSC) of the Australian Society of Anaesthetists (ASA). The Congress is being held in the impressive Melbourne Conference and Exhibition Centre on the banks of the Yarra River right in the heart of Melbourne from Saturday 17th to Tuesday 20th September 2016.

The space for the Health Care Industry is in the centrally located Melbourne room overlooking the Yarra River giving all attendees easy access to the area from the seminar rooms and where morning and afternoon teas, and lunch will be provided. At a total of 2400m2 the space is big enough to hold all the Health Care Industry without seeming overwhelming.

We have an excellent scientific program planned including refresher courses, lectures, input from the SIG’s, research and poster sessions, workshops and problem based learning activities.

Professor Royse is developing a stimulating program around our invited speakers; Mrs Carolyn Canfield (Canada’s 2014 patient safety champion ) an expert in patient advocacy and also our Kester Brown Lecturer, Dr David Canty from the Royal Melbourne Hospital our Australiasian visitor and expert in point of care Echocardiograpy, Professor Olle Ljungqvist Professor of Surgery at Örebro University Hospital chairman ofthe ERAS Society and an expert in this area and Professor Stanton Newman Dean School of Health Sciences at City University in London and an expert on the impact of surgery and other treatments on the brain.

There will be an opportunity for the Health Care Industry to run their own lunch time sessions on topics related to their products.

As well as the high calibre scientific program which we have come to expect from the ASA National meeting there will be prestigious and entertaining social functions presented against the backdrop of Melbourne one of the worlds most livable cities. Included in the social program will be a family orientated cocktail party at the Australian Centre for the Moving Image on the Saturday night and the Health Care Industry function for delegates on Sunday evening. Both evenings will give delegates a chance to mingle but finish earlier enough to allow a nightcap of further dining at one of the many nearby restaurants and bars. The Gala Dinner on the Monday night will be held at Melbourne Park one of the world’s most important tennis venues and banquet areas.

We have a great committee of extremely experienced members who have been extensively involved in Education and Conference organization during their careers in anaesthesia. These include our Scientific Convener Professor Colin Royse, the convener from the 2010 meeting (Dr. Renald Portelli) and the convener from the 2003 meeting in Melbourne (Dr. Mark Sanford) along with other members who were on these committees plus some new talented additions. We are ably supported by International Conference and Events (ICE) (Ms Rebecca Charlton) and the team at ASA Head Office in Sydney.

I look forward to meeting many of you in Darwin and encourage you to commit to coming to Melbourne where we are sure to have an exciting and interesting educational meeting.

As many of the opportunities in this prospectus are strictly limited, your early commitment will guarantee your chosen level of participation and maximise your exposure to our delegates.

Dr. Simon Reilly
NSC 2016 Convenor
SIMON REILLY | NSC 2016 CONVENOR

I have been an Australian Society of Anaesthetists (ASA) member since 1991 and involved with the ASA committees since 2002. I am on the Victorian Committee and was chairman of that committee in 2002 and I have been on the Professional Issues in Anaesthesia Committee (PIAC) since 2005.

Having been extensively involved in medical education and organizing conferences over that time puts me in a great position to be convener for 2016. I have been on the committee for the combined ANZCA ASA Melbourne meetings of which I was scientific convener for three of them and on the ASA NSC conference committees for the Melbourne meetings in 2003 and 2010 before becoming the convener for this meeting. I have also been involved in part 3 courses for anaesthetic registrars, in organizing ASA country meetings and in organizing educational meetings for the Critical Care Institute at Epworth Hospital.

I am the chair of the Anaesthetic Advisory Committee and Deputy Chair of the Critical Care Institute for the Epworth Hospital group and also chairman of Anaesthetic Services our private anaesthetic group of 37 members.

I am married with 3 children and live in the suburbs of Melbourne. My great passions are the Victorian Surf Coast, Skiing and my family.

COLIN ROYSE | NSC 2016 SCIENTIFIC CONVENOR

Colin Royse is the scientific convenor for the ASA National Scientific Congress for 2016. He is a consultant anaesthetist at the Royal Melbourne Hospital, and a professor of anaesthesia at the University of Melbourne. His clinical focus is cardiac anaesthesia and echocardiography. His research interests include echocardiography and clinical ultrasound, outcomes research for cardiac surgery, and postoperative quality of recovery. He is the current chairman of the Postoperative Quality of Recovery Scale (PostopQRS) scientific committee, and the co-director of the Ultrasound Education Group at the University of Melbourne.

He is married with 2 adult children. He lives by the motto “no snow - no life” and spends as much time as possible on the ski slopes.
MELBOURNE & THE CONVENTION CENTRE
Victoria’s capital sits on the Yarra River and around the shores of Port Phillip Bay. Acclaimed for its sense of style and elegance, Melbourne boasts glamorous festivals and events, Australia’s best shopping, a lively passion for eating and drinking and a thriving interest in the arts.

Melbourne has restored and preserved 19th century architecture built following the discovery of gold, as well as beautifully tended parks and gardens. Melbourne is the gateway to Victoria’s world-class wineries, natural springs, peninsulas, spectacular coastline and alpine villages.

MELBOURNE CONVENTION AND EXHIBITION CENTRE (MCEC)

MCEC was recognised as Australasia’s Leading Meetings and Conference Centre in 2014, 2013 and 2012 by the prestigious World Travel Awards. MCEC encompasses amazing spaces, leading technology, creative food and wine, and staff with the skills and experience to bring it all together. The centre has a multi-functional plenary room, 52 meeting rooms and 30,000 square metres of pillar-less exhibition space, as well as a private walkway link between the Hilton Melbourne South Wharf and the venue.

MCEC was the first centre in the world to be awarded a 6-Star Green Star environment rating by the Green Building Council of Australia for its innovative environmental design and operational features. It is set on the banks of the iconic Yarra River and is a 20 minute drive from Melbourne Airport and a short stroll to the city centre.

INVITED SPEAKERS

MRS CAROLYN CANFIELD
Carolyn Canfield collaborates as an independent citizen–patient internationally with clinicians, patients, managers, researchers and educators to embed the patient voice in improvement processes. Patient expertise can drive creativity and sustain system-scale transformation to meet the aspirations of both clients and practitioners for care excellence. The unexpected death of her husband in 2008 following care failures after successful surgery challenged her to comprehend how skilled and dedicated healthcare workers could fail a patient, and then be terribly harmed themselves by the very system in which they worked. She dedicates her passion to countering burnout and harm across the full spectrum of healthcare. Carolyn was recognised as Canada’s inaugural individual Patient Safety Champion in 2014. She is an honorary lecturer in the Faculty of Medicine at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver.

DR DAVID CANTY
Dr David Canty is an anaesthetist and Director of simulation and senior lecturer for the Ultrasound Education Group, Department of Surgery, University of Melbourne, where he researches and teaches a wide range of ultrasound techniques, with a particular interest in echocardiography. In his PhD he pioneered the benefits of transthoracic echocardiography in perioperative medicine, leading to a growing body of publications, grants and expanding research program in Australia and internationally. Current research aims to answer whether it benefits patient outcome, whether it is cost-effective and whether simulators are the answer to teach every doctor this valuable bedside skill. David is a member of the ANZCA Cardiothoracic, Vascular and Perfusion special interest group and holds editorial positions on several anaesthesia journals.
PROFESSOR OLLE LJUNGQVIST

Professor Olle Ljungqvist received his medical degree and obtained his PhD on glucose metabolism in hemorrhage at the Karolinska Institutet in Sweden. He completed his residency and held several clinical positions in gastrointestinal surgery at the Karolinska Hospital and was appointed Professor of Surgery, Nutrition and Metabolism in 2005 at the Karolinska Institute. He chaired the Center for Gastrointestinal Disease at Ersta Hospital, Stockholm, between 1999 and 2008, before taking up his current position as Professor of Surgery at Örebro University in 2009. Dr Ljungqvist has served as Chair of the European Society for Clinical Nutrition (ESPEN) and the International Association for Surgical Metabolism and Nutrition (IASMEN), as part of the International Surgical Society. He co-founded the Enhanced Recovery After Surgery (ERAS) Society in 2010. He proposed the use of preoperative carbohydrates instead of overnight fasting for elective surgery and has been active in research in surgical stress, metabolism and nutrition and outcomes focusing on ERAS, publishing more than 200 original contributions and reviews.

PROFESSOR STANTON NEWMAN

Professor Stanton Newman is Professor of Health Psychology and Dean of the School of Health Sciences at City University London. He has published over 350 research papers and chapters as well as 18 books. One of his areas of specialisation is the impact of surgery and anesthesia on the brain. He has developed tools to assess cognition before and after surgery and anesthesia and examined the methodological issues in establishing post-operative cognitive deficits. In his work, he has systematically examined patients’ views about surgery and its effect on their cognition, as well as the equipment used and the techniques of anesthesia and surgery to improve outcomes for patients. More recently, he has been involved in the development of the Postoperative Quality of Recovery Scale, an easy to use tool to assess multiple aspects of recovery from surgery.
